MySales is a new website that affords federal agencies the means to report, modify and maintain status of their surplus and exchange/sale property reported to GSA to sell.

MySales provides the Federal agencies the capability to report exchange/sale property to sell and to access surplus property reported via GSAXcess® that was screened worldwide but did not get transferred or donated. By using MySales, agencies will also have the capability to check the sales status of items reported to GSA, modify item data including descriptions, withdraw items available for sale, respond to Sales notices and update user information. Previously, this process was handled manually.

These features will become available in stages. Checking the sales status of items reported to GSA and withdrawing items available for sale are currently available. The other features will be available at a later time.

In addition, MySales provides a Custodial User Maintenance screen that is available only to those authorized officials or designated persons appointed by agency. The user will be able to add or delete users, update user information and change your password and levels of access.

MySales is available to authorized users. See Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) to learn how to become an authorized user and how to use MySales.
